

Ladder 10

I can find evidence from the text to support my answer to a question.

I can infer detail about characters and their actions.

I can talk about structure and language choices in explaining what sort of text I am looking at.

I can comment on examples of the writer's language choices; e.g. 'tearful' shows he's upset.

I can explain the effect particular descriptions have on the reader; e.g. 'shifty' makes you think he's untrustworthy.

I can explain the writer's main purpose for writing with examples from the text.

I can identify common features that are used in similar texts.

I can talk about where and when a writer was writing.

I have read fiction books by different authors and have read some non-fiction and some poetry.